Meeting the challenges of Agriculture and Forestry with Commissioner Bob Odom

The first ever listing of a state's livestock brands on the Internet occurred this month when more than 7,200 livestock identification marks were posted to the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's web site.

Also this month, the 2000 edition of the Louisiana Agricultural Products Directory, a catalog of the 550 food manufacturing companies operating in Louisiana, was posted to the site for the first time.

"This is another effort to provide the public with information that can benefit their everyday lives in those areas that the department impacts," said Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Bob Odom.

These two new features of the Department's web site are found at www.ldaf.state.la.us. The livestock brand information is available on the Department's web site under the Animal Health Office. The Louisiana Agricultural Products Directory is located under the Marketing Office at "Trade Directories."

In a third web site-related item, the Department's press releases can now be found on the Louisiana State web site, www.state.la.us.

"The new brand entries on the web site make us the first to post on the Internet, although we understand others are in the process of coming on line. More importantly, the Web provides an additional tool to help us keep track of animals sold through our livestock barns and assist us in theft investigations as well," Odom said.

The brands are posted by brand owners, categories of brands, as well as by the individual brands themselves. Before being posted on the web site, the department's Brand Recorder Liz Bryant, using graphic design software, individually draws each of the 7,200 brands from a sketch submitted by the livestock owner.

"Many brands are quite unusual in that they are often fanciful scroll work. In some cases a brand will only remotely resemble the owners name and in some cases they are simply artistic creations and don't relate to the owner's name at all," Odom said.

The food manufacturers directory lists all those manufacturing Cajun, Creole and conventional food products in Louisiana both alphabetically and under 45 categories. "This is an excellent tool for marketing Louisiana foods," Odom said. "The explosion of Louisiana food companies from fewer than 100 back in the mid-1980s to some 550 today is a testament to the sticking power of Louisiana's unique style of cooking.

"Cajun and Creole foods have captured huge markets domestically and internationally. Our food companies supplying those markets have become a major economic force in the small and medium size business sector in the state," Odom said.

In another addition to available information on the Internet, the Department's press releases can be accessed both on the Department's web site and on the state's web site, "Info Louisiana," www.state.la.us. Press releases can be found by selecting the Louisiana News link from the navigation menu.

The new Louisiana News web site so far offers press releases from five state agencies: the departments of Health and Hospitals, Social Services, Culture, Recreation and Tourism, the LSU Agricultural Center and Agriculture and Forestry. The site contains the two most current releases from each agency and an archive of prior releases.

Maxine Carr, Louisiana Livestock Sanitary Board, was honored on July 20 for over 40 years service to LDAF. Presenting the award is Commissioner Bob Odom.

Hill Farm Research Station hosts field day September 21

The LSU AgCenter's Hill Farm Research Station will host an educational Field Day from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 21.

Hill Farm, located south of Homer, LA. at the junction of US 79 and LA 9, is a unit of the Louisiana Agricultural Experiment Station, the AgCenter's research branch.

AgCenter scientists and extension specialists will present information during field tours on various topics related to beef, dairy, forage and forestry production. Agribusiness company representatives will also be available, beginning at 1 p.m., to display products and equipment in a trade show atmosphere. In addition, on-going demonstrations will be conducted during the afternoon.

After introductory comments at 2 p.m., a brief discussion will be held on environmental stewardship in Agriculture. Tours will begin about 2:30 p.m. Forage tour topics will include best management practices for poultry litter on bermuda grass and performance of bermuda grass and bahia grass varieties. Dairy tour topics will include dairy outlook, new somatic cell count limits, and research on a new barrier teat dip, and forestry tour topics will include managing timber for cattle, wildlife, and water quality. Fertilizer source for stocker grazing and cow-calf production in pine plantations will be covered in the beef tour.

This educational Field Day will qualify for continuing education credit from the Louisiana Board of Veterinary Medicine and the Louisiana Association of Crop Consultants.

A supper will conclude the days activities at about 6 p.m. All beef, dairy, forage and forestry producers as well as any other interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

For more information contact: Dr. W. Allen Nipper, Resident Director at (931) 927-2578.

Advice offered for applying defoliant

With the maturity of the Louisiana cotton crop arriving in just a few weeks, LSU AgCenter specialists remind producers now is the time to plan for defoliation.

LSU AgCenter cotton specialist Dr. John Barnett says several factors associated with defoliation can improve fiber quality and impact profits.

"One of the most important is proper timing of harvest aids," Barnett said. "Improper timing of harvest aids can cause lower yields and quality."

Bolls need to be about 35 to 45 days old to be safe from the harmful effects of harvest aids, the cotton specialist said. Plants whose latest bolls were set about mid-August should not be defoliated before about Sept. 25 to Oct. 1. Plants whose latest bolls were set about Sept. 1 should not be defoliated before about mid-October, Barnett said.

"A mature boll cannot be cut easily in cross section with a knife – nor can it be easily mashed be- (cont'd on p.7)

Applying defolients (cont'd from p.1)

tween the thumb and forefinger,” he said.

The development of immature bolls is slowed or stopped when the plant is completely defoliated, Barnett said. So defoliating too early lowers lint yield, seed yield and fiber quality – particularly micronaire, he said.

The best times to apply harvest aids are in the late afternoon or early morning when humidity is high and winds are calm, Barnett said.

Clean turnrows are another factor that can yield positive results, Barnett said. Weedy turnrows should be clipped or disked be-796-5550 or (504) 515-1200.

fore harvest, he said. For producers who disk, Barnett said they should disk a few weeks before harvest to allow the turnrows to settle. Removal of weeds from turnrows will reduce the chances of contaminating cotton lint with green stain, he said.

Barnett said producers need to be sure they’re ready to apply a defoliant because once it’s on the plant, there’s no turning back. But, looking at it from a different angle, he said excessive delays in applying harvest aids can delay harvest and increase potential for yield and losses caused by normal or catastrophic weather conditions.

1 chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup butter or margarine
*6 chopped hard cooked eggs
4½ ounce jar whole mushrooms
10¾ oz. can cream of mushroom soup
½ teaspoon salt
1 can refrigerated biscuits
Cook onion, pepper and celery in butter until golden brown. Mix with eggs and mushrooms. Stir in soup and salt. Pour into greased baking dish. Top with unbaked biscuits. Bake at 400 to 500 degrees until biscuits are brown, about 10 minutes.

Cidered Eggs
¾ cup sweet apple cider or apple juice
¼ cup distilled white vinegar
3 slices onion
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon whole pickling spice
½ clove garlic
*6 hard cooked eggs
Combine all ingredients except eggs in saucepan; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer 5 minutes. Pour over eggs in sealable container. Cover. Refrigerate several hours or overnight, turning eggs occasionally, if necessary, to pickle evenly. Remove eggs from liquid and drain.

Crawfish Frittata
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onions
*3 cups cooked rice
*2 cups (8 ounces Louisiana craw-

fish tails
1 cup (4 ounces) grated Swiss cheese
diced green chiles, undrained
*1½ cups half and half (cream and milk)
1* teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
Melt butter in medium skillet. Add onions and cook until tender crisp. Mix onions with rice, crawfish, ½ cup cheese, chiles, and pimentos. Combine eggs, half and half, salt and Tobasco. Stir into rice mixture. Turn into a buttered shallow 2 quart casserole dish. Top with remaining cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes, or until set. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Egg-Yam Roll
1½ cups water
*1½ cups raw, diced yams
*6 eggs
*1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¾ cup all purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
*1 cup chopped pecans
*½ cup confectioners's sugar
Bring water to a boil in saucepan. Place yams in boiling water. Cover and simmer about ten minutes or until tender. Drain yams and mash. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Beat eggs at high speed with electric mixer until thick and lemon-colored (about five minutes). Gradually add sugar, beating five additional minutes.

Continue beating and gradually add yams and lemon juice.
Combine dry ingredients, and stir into yam mixture.
While beating ingredients, prepare a 15 X 10 X 2 inch jelly roll pan by greasing and flouring bottom and sides; line bottom of pan with waxed paper. Combine dry ingredients, ans stir into yam mixture. Pour batter into prepared pan, spreading evenly. Sprinkle with pecans.
Bake at 375 degrees for 12 - 15 minutes or until a wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean.

While cake is baking, prepare a linen towel by laying it flat on counter top and sifting confectioner's sugar to cover an area the size of the pan.
When cake is done, immediately loosen sides of pan and turn out on sugar. Peel off waxed paper. Starting at narrow end, roll up cake and towel together; cool on a wire rack, seam side down.

Filling:
1 (8 oz.) pkg. softened cream cheese
4 tablespoons softened margarine
*1 cup confectioner's sugar
*½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon butter flavoring
*½ cup chopped pecans
